ONE YEAR PG DIPLOMA IN ISLAMIC THOUGHT & SOCIAL PROCESS

Thanshia Islamic Academy invites applications for PG Diploma program in Islamic Thought and Social Process for This academic year. This course is designed with various academic objectives that are meant to help the students in moulding their future careers. The course primarily offers a comprehensive understanding of the contemporary academic discourses in Social Science and Humanities and provides inputs on Islamic intellectual history and theology. Today, us disciplines of Social Science and Humanities -such as sociology, history, political science, anthropology, philosophy, cultural studies and literature- are increasingly dealing with the sub-dealing with the subjects related to Islam and Muslims. It has produced advancements in the epistemic developments of Islamic tradition, blurring the boundaries between aqeeda, falsafa, and fiqh. The advanced developments in the study of Islam and Muslim societies, the transformation of the secular, articulations of religious subjectivities, the shifts in contemporary minority discourses and Muslim political experiments are some focus areas of the course. The course would provide readings, lectures, and workshops to get a deeper hold of these disciplines, and an understanding of how they deal with Islam and Muslims.

Secondly, this program is intended to function as a bridge course for students from different academic backgrounds in developing their own areas of interest for higher studies. Thanshia, as part of this program, also offers orientation and guidance to students on admission procedures for higher studies at reputed foreign and central universities.
